

NADINE S. LEE, P.E.

Nadine Lee is a Project Manager for the Denver Regional Transportation District's (RTD) FasTracks Program. A registered Professional Engineer in Colorado and Kansas, Ms. Lee received her B.S. in Civil Engineering from the University of Missouri-Columbia in May, 1992. She began her career as a highway design engineer in Kansas City before moving to Denver in 1998 to work on her first transit project, RTD's Southeast Corridor. Since then Ms. Lee has worked on numerous transit projects in Denver, Seattle, Salt Lake City, Fort Lauderdale, Minneapolis, Austin, and Portland.

In her current position, Ms. Lee serves as the primary FasTracks representative for the Northwest Rail project. This role includes project management for a portion of the Northwest Rail that is included in the Eagle P3 project, a public-private partnership to design, build, operate, finance, and maintain three different corridors of the FasTracks Program. In addition, Ms. Lee's responsibilities include stakeholder communications, consultant oversight, coordination and management, and responsibility for project schedules and budgets.

Ms. Lee presented research papers on level boarding for the Northwest Rail (American Public Transportation Association Rail Conference, 2008) and on the at-grade crossing evaluation methodology used for Northwest Rail (2007 Transportation Research Board Annual Meeting and the 2007 Texas Transportation Institute National Highway-Rail Grade Crossing Safety Training Conference).

Ms. Lee participated in the prestigious Transit Cooperative Research Program's (TCRP) International Transit Studies Program (ITSP) for the Spring 2009 mission to Southeast Asia. This study group traveled to Hong Kong, Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, and Taipei to examine the use of performance measures to improve service delivery to transit customers. The findings by the study mission participants were published in the TCRP Research Results Digest 95 (April 2010).

Ms. Lee currently serves on the International Board for WTS (Women's Transportation Seminar). She is a past Co-Chair of the WTS Leadership Series and a Past President of the Colorado Chapter. She attended the 4th Annual WTS Leadership Program at Rutgers University in 2004. She received the inaugural WTS Colorado Emerging Leader of the Year Award, and she has participated as a mentor in both the 2006 and 2007 WTS Colorado Mentoring Programs. Ms. Lee also received the 2010 WTS International Member of the Year Award as well as the 2009 Colorado Chapter Member of the Year Award.
